

Q1 2025 Marketing Campaign Performance Summary

Cross-Channel Campaign Analysis | January – March 2025

Date: April 20, 2025 | Classification: INTERNAL — CONFIDENTIAL

Overview

StreamVision ran 38 discrete campaigns across 6 channels in Q1 2025, with a total combined spend of approximately ■42M. Social Media and OTT Native placements delivered the strongest return on investment. Influencer campaigns for Stellar Run outperformed all other activations, with a click-through rate 3.2× the platform average.

Channel Performance

Channel	Total Spend (■M)	Avg CTR	ROI Index
Social Media	12.4	6.2%	2.4
OTT Native	9.8	5.8%	2.1
Influencer	7.2	8.1%	3.0
Search	6.5	4.3%	1.6
Display	4.1	1.8%	0.9
Email	2.0	3.5%	1.4

Comedy Campaign Underperformance

Campaigns for Silver Screen and Laugh Track significantly underperformed. Despite combined spend of ■4.2M, both titles failed to convert viewers at meaningful rates. Post-campaign analysis indicates the core issue is product-market fit rather than channel execution — viewers who click comedy ads are engaging briefly but not completing films or upgrading subscriptions. We recommend a creative strategy review for comedy before further investment.

Recommendations

Reallocate Display budget to Social Media and Influencer activations, which have consistently outperformed in Q1. Prioritise Stellar Run and Dark Orbit for Q2 campaign investment given strong organic momentum and premium audience composition. Consider performance-based influencer agreements tied to subscriber conversion metrics rather than impression volumes.
